GLOBAL SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT COMPETITION

Think creatively, gain valuable research skills and learn more about global sustainable development.

WARWICK
THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Choose one of the following questions:

1) Do you need to be rich in order to be sustainable?
2) Some commentators believe that 2022 could be the year the COVID-19 pandemic comes to an end. What long-lasting impacts do you think the pandemic might have on sustainable development?
3) What do you think is the main barrier to achieving sustainable development at present, and how can this be overcome?

Enter one of the following as your response:

- A 1,000-1,500 word essay
- A 4-minute video/podcast essay
- A photo/series of photos and a 500 word (maximum) commentary
- An artistic exploration (for example, a painting, poetry, a short story or a short film) and a 500 word (maximum) commentary

The competition is open to you if you are in year 11 or 12 in the UK, or if you are a school pupil in the 15 to 17 year old age group equivalent from anywhere around the world. Shortlisted entrants will be invited to a virtual event, hosted by the University of Warwick's Global Sustainable Development (GSD) Department. Winners will be announced and each awarded a £50 prize.

Deadline: Midnight, Friday 29 April 2022

What is GSD?

The United Nations defines GSD as "development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs".

Our GSD degrees at Warwick equip our students with the expertise, skills and knowledge that enable them to contribute meaningfully to the debates about the big problems facing us today, so that they can make a real difference to the world.
